Suspect Held For Investigation

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Almost two thousand young men in Nevada Count must register a week from next Wednesday, October 16, in compliance with the selective service act. Of this number it is estimated that in the county there will be 55 called in the first contingent, which is expected to go into training for military service in November. Of this 55 there will be deducted the number who have volunteered for training in recent months. This, it is estimated will leave about forty to be chosen by the local board for the selective training.

Whatever exemptions are made because of dependents, employment in essential industries, or even for physical disqualifications, can only be made by the local draft board and only when the young men have registered and have handed in their questionnaires completely answered. Severe penalties are imposed for failure to register on October 16, and for failure to answer the questionnaire.

Each registrant will receive a pamphlet setting forth his duties under the selective service act. Registrants are particularly warned not to pay money to anyone for any service or aid in complying with the selective service act. The local boards in each county must carry up any appeal that any registrant desires to make in regard to his classification, and this is not to cost the registrant a cent. These pamphlets and other printed matter pertaining to registering and the duties of registrants have been received by the county clerk and will be distributed on registration day.

The questionnaire must be returned to the local board within five days after being received. Each registrant will receive a number and when that number is drawn in Washington, all those throughout the country who have been assigned this number, must report for service, unless among the deferred classifications.

There are four classifications for registrants: First — Those available for training and service on land or sea; 2nd—those deferred because the public interest is best served by continuing in their usual occupations; 3rd—those deferred because others are dependend upon them for support; 4th—those deferred from service either by the law itself, for physical disability, or for other reasons.

In each case of deferment, the decision is reached on the basis of the status of the individual himself. There will be no general rule of deferment as affecting occupations, except those that may be specified in the law, and in case of the third classification, a registrant with dependents, it is required that actual dependency be established. Only persons in the first classification will be required to take a physical examination. The local boards have the authority and the obligation to place those in deferred list in the first classification, as the circumstances of the individual change. In other words if a registrant in the deferred classifications should lose his job or change his employment, or if those supported by him ceased to be dependent in fact, he would be transferred to the first classification for training and service.

All registrants are urged to keep in touch with their local boards with respect to their classificatioos, with regard to appeals, and with regard to all details if called to training and service. The local boards are to advise regarding clothing necessary to take, and will provide transportation and meals for those in the first classification when called to service.

This is briefly a synopsis of the instructions which each registrant will receive on October 16, when he registers in the first peace time conscription of man power in United States history.

FAIR DIRECTORS WILL MEET THURS.

The directors of the 17th Agricultural District will meet at 8 o'clock Thursday night in the chamber of commerce rooms in Grass Valley to wind up the affairs of the recently held Nevada County Fair.

H. R. Spiess will preside over the meeting.

DRAFT REGISTRATION SUPPLIES RECEIVED BY COUNTY CLERK

All necessary printing supplies for the conscription registration on October 16th have been received from the state printing plant for Nevada County by County Clerk R. N. McCormack.

The supplies include the registration cards for approximately 2,000 men between the ages of 21 and 35, smaller certificates that will be given to each man who registers, and instructions for the election boards that will handle the registration in reach of Nevada County's 42 precincts.

County Clerk McCormack made it clear that the election officials, not the registrants themselves, will fill out the registration cards.

Registrants furnish information to 11 questions, then sign their names.

Registration Information

On the back of the registration cards, officials must fill out a description of the registrants. The certificates of registration is small enough to carry in a billfold and is a registation receipt, and should be carried by the registrant at all times.

The registrants will be asked for the following information:

Name, address, telephone number, age, place of birth, citizenship, name of person who will always know address, relationship of that person, address of that person and employer's name and address.

All those registering will be given a bulletin of information, setting forth the procedure which will follow their registration. The bulletin also carries a message from President Roosevelt which reads:

"I wish I could personally talk to each one of you about our country's pressing need for a stronger defense, and its vital meaning to you, your family, and the whole nation. I would tell you that the task before us today is as compelling as any that ever confronted our people, and I would add that each of us must willingly do his bit if we are to hold fast our heritage of freedom and our American way of life—our national existence itself.

"And whether or not you are to be among those selected, I welcome you as one whose name has been inscribed on the roll of honor of those Americans ready, if need be, to join in the common defense of all."

COUNCIL ASKS REPORT ON NEW TYPE MACHINES

Devices Referred To As Similar To Slot Machines

The last Thursday night regular monthly council meeting consisted principally of discussing minor problems and the approving of the September bills.

The councilmen were informed of the appearance of machines in the city which were described as similar to slot machines. The matter was referred to City Attorney Frank Finnegan for an opinion, which will be given at next month's meeting.

GRASS VALLEY RESIDENT DIES

Richard Kinsman Robinson, 58, a resident of Grass Valley 35 years, died in the Jones Memorial Hospital in Grass Valley.

The funeral services for Robinson will be held Wednesday afternon at 1 o'clock at the Hooper-Weaver Mortuary in Grass Valley. Interment will be in the Elm Ridge Cemetery in Grass Valley.

Robinson was an employee of the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation. He was a member of the Nevada County Mine Workers Protective League.

Surviving relatives include his wife, Clara and two sisters in Canada.

Spend Weekend Here—

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Epperson and son, Clay, who spent the past week end in Nevada City with Mrs. Epperson's mother, Mrs. Ida Guenther, left today for their home in Bakersfield.

GRASS VALLEY DEDICATES HER NEW RESERVOIR

Grass Valley yesterday afternoon dedicated her new $21,000 reservoir at Alta Hill. The ceremonies, sponsored by the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce, attracted approximately 300 persons.

Mayor John R. Thomas. was the principal speaker on the program and told those gathered for the dedication the reservoir was built without additional taxation to the residents of the city or the necessity of a bond issue.

Olney Donnelly, president of the Nevada County Mine Workers Protective League, also spoke. William Goggin, president of the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce, was to have participated but illness caused his absence. Eben K. Smart acted as master of ceremonies.

The scheduled turning of water into the reservoir as part of the ceremonies was postponed and the water was not turned in until today.

ELKS WILL DINE THURSDAY NIGHT

Ernest Schreiber is general chairman of a committee making arrangements for a dinner at the Elks Hall Thursday night at 6:30 the first dinner of the season for the local Elks lodge.

The dinner will consist of roast beef and a lot of trimmings. A large attendance at the dinner is urged by the committee. Besides the dinner entertainment will be offered.

Early Morning Fire Razes Historic N.C.N.G. Building

DANIEL DAWSON PICKED UP BY GRASS VALLEY POLICE FOR QUESTIONING INTO CONFLAGRATION, WHICH ATTRACTED HUNDREDS OF CURIOUS SPECTATORS

Fire which broke out shortly afterr midnight, destroyed the historic Narrow Gauge Depot in Grass Valley and the adjoining Colfax Fruit Exchange packing shed and Poultry Producers association warehouse.

The blaze, believed to have started upstairs in the fruit exchange building, swept rapidly through the packing shed and into the railroad depot with firemen powerless to halt its onslaught. The valuable records of the railroad company were destroyed but the flames did not reach the portion of the office in which safes were contained.

The buildings loss was estimated at $15,000 but the machinery, merchandise and poultry feed supplies destroyed is expected to bring the total loss to approximately $50,000.

Daniel Dawson, 33, who had been sleeping in a toolshed near the depot, is being held in the city jail in Grass Valley for investigation. He was taken into custody by Fire Chief John Harris and City Officer Bill Fraser.

Although the origin of the fire is unknown, J. E. Taylor, manager of the narrow gauge, said he does not believe it was incendiary. Taylor stated he first noticed the fire at 12:30 when he happened to go out on his porch at his home. He thought it was a large grass fire and it was not until later he learned it was the depot in flames.

A Mexican family residing upstairs in the railroad building escaped the flames with a few belongings. Hundreds of spectators were attracted to the fire. Nearly everyone in Grass Valley was awakened by several terrific explosions, which firemen said were barrels of torpedoes going off.

Faints From Excitement

Mrs. Mary Duffin fainted from excitement and was taken to the Landis Lang Clinic.

Approximately 12 members of the Nevada City Volunteer Fire Department and the local large fire truck aided in confining the flames to the block of railroad buildings. The call for aid from the Grass Valley firemen was received at about 1 o'clock this morning.

The absence of wind helped the firmeen. It is believed had there been a wind, many surrounding homes would have been in danger of being destroyed.

The records destroyed dated back to 1876. The depot itself was constructed in the early 1890's by John Kidder, president and general manager of the Narrow Gauge at that time.

The fire did not interrupt service on the railroad. The train went through this morning after the burned debris was removed from the track.

The loss to the buildings was covered by insurance. Officials of the fruit exchange and poultry association could not be reached for a statement on their losses.

Several tons of bale hay in the feed and grain warehouse added to the spectacularness of the blaze. The flames shot many feet into the air and could be seen for miles.

The buildings were covered by insurance. It was not immediately learned what insurance was carried on the contents of the buildings.

PEOPLE TRUST COURTS MORE THAN BOARDS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Californians prefer to have their legal rights decided by judges rather than by state boards and bureaus, it was disclosed yesterday in the results of a statewide survey conducted by the State Bar according to Secretary Claude Minard.

Out of a total of almost 3,000 persons interviewed throughout the state, 82.8 per cent preferred to submut their disputes to a court or jury instead of an administrative bureau, Minard disclosed. The specific question asked was: "Would youprefer to have your legal rights decided by administrative boards, bureaus and commissions, or by the courts?"

The survey was conducted, according to Minard, in connection with the State Bar's efforts to provide an adequate method for obtaining judicial review of the orders and decisions of statewide bureaus and boards. A proposed constitutional amendment to accomplish this purpose will appear on the November ballot as Proposition No. 6, Minrad pointed out.

In reply to a second question: "Should people have the right to appeal to courts from decisions of the state boards, bureaus and commissions?" a total of 82.7 per cent of those interviewed favored the right to appeal to the courts, the survey disclosed.

Almost 500 of the persons quizzed offered the comment that judges elected by the people were better qualified to decide legal problems than administrative boards appointed by the governor.

"By reason of a series of supreme court decisions in recent years, there exists no adequate procedure whereby persons aggrieved by the orders of state administrative bureaus can appeal to the courts for relief," Minard declared. "The State Bar is sponsoring Proposition No. 6 in order to correct this unfortunate situation."

WOMAN TAKEN INTO CUSTODY ON CHARGE OF CHILD DESERTION

Mrs. Dean White, 32, wanted in Paradise, Butte County, on a charge of abandoning her child, was taken into custody here Friday night by Deputy Sheriff Fred Williford.

Butte County officers came to Nevada City to return her to the jail in Oroville pending a hearing.

Bail for the defendant has been set at $5,000 No details of the abandonment were learned by the local authorities.

Assaying the New Deal

(The News, Washington, D. C., a Scripps-Howard Newspaper)

It is true that both candidates endorse selective service training for defense man power. It is true that their general attitudes toward foreign policy have much in common. For these agreements the country may be thankful, since they offer hope that partisan differences may stop at the water's edge. Yet Mr. Willkie sought—successfully, we think—to make it clear that there is a fundamental difference. He would consider it his first duty as President to keep America out of war unless it were attacked, whereas he charged that Mr. Roosevelt, by some of his utterances and acts, "has courted a war for which the country is hopelessly unprepared—and which it emphatically does not want."

It is true that Mr. Willkie endorsed the principle of most of the reforms undertaken by the New Deal.

These are reforms which real liberals have always favored. By proclaiming his belief in them, we think Mr. Willkie revealed his essential liberalism as contrasted to the essential reactionism of Old Guard Republicans who have damned all the works of the New Deal.

But there are two Roosevelt policies which Mr. Willkie condemned emphatically, and these are the two which bear the seeds of destruction for all of the New Deal's desirable reforms:

1. The policy of trying to spend the country rich.
2. The policy of stirring hatred and class division.

Most of us have never ceased to believe what Mr. Roosevelt proclaimed in 1932—that a government or a family which lives beyond its income every year is headed for sure disaster. But this government is living beyond its income every year, with outgo gaining constantly. And the people—even those who have benefited directly by New Deal spending—know instinctively that this is leading to disaster.

The government, then, is not secure, and a government that is not secure cannot give security to its people. It cannot guarantee that internal security against poverty and greed which is the objective of the New Deal's reforms. It cannot guarantee security against external dangers.

And a people split by hatreds can neither cure their own ills nor effectively resist aggression from without.

So what Mr. Willkie proposes is not merely to do better what Mr. Roosevelt has attempted to do, but something much more. He proposes to rescue the government from its drift toward disaster and to save the reforms instituted by the New Deal; to stop spending for the sake of spending, and to spend only for the sake of results; to stop merely trying to divide what wealth we have, and to start creating more wealth; to stop making the country weak by setting its people against each other, and to start making it strong by uniting the people for production.

The Measure of Willkie

Whether or not Wendell Willkie is victorious in a presidential race that appears headed for a photo finish, his unorthodox frankness, disdain of political expediency, and his penchant for speaking blunt truths in every-day language, have done his country a service sadly needed. It is a healthful thing in a democracy when a candidate for the presidency pushes aside the political strategists and takes his message direct to the people. Because he will not compromise an iota of his beliefs, Willkie shatters the rules of the political game. Some of Mr. Roosevelt's reforms were needed and are good, thinks Mr. Willkie—and, to the horror of party war horses, he frankly says so. On the other hand, as he declraed in California, he believes that "democracy cannot survive in America if it keeps on piling up debt on debt, as the Roosevelt Administration is doing; if it reaches a long period of industrial stagnation; if it has arrived at a place of intellectual stagnation where one man—and only one man—is indispensable."

He speaks extemporaneously to all groups large or small, that he can reach in person, and invites questions which he answers without equivocation. Never in history has a candidate spoken so frankly to the common man on premises so completely non-partisan. These characteristics of the "amateur" candidate probably account in large part for the prenomeal growth of the Willkie Volunteers, made up of enthusiasts who are political amateurs yet whose enthusiasm and personal contact work is all the more effective because the Volunteers number probably as many Democrats as Republicans in their ranks. Win or lose, Wendell Willkie has demonstrated that candor, honesty and faith in the wisdom of the people are stronger weapons than all the wiles and tricks of political chicanery. He demonstrated that when he won the Republican nomination. He is demonstrating it in every appearance of his campaign. The immense success of the demonstration is a heartening event in a cynical world.—Contributed.

POLITICAL PARADE

BY CLEM WHITAKER

By CLEM WHITAKER

Every road has its turning — a political road perhaps more often than any other!

Back in 1932, when the first Roosevelt landslide swept everything before it, California, long a Republican stronghold, turned Democratic.

In 1938, California made even a sharper turn, electing a Democratic governor for the first time in decades.

But there's another turn coming up, just a few miles down the highway, according to seasoned students of political trends and prospects, and it's likely to be a complete U-turn, with screeching tires and all the trimmings.

To get down to cases, the Republican party on Nevember 5, will probably re-capture absolute control of both houses of the State Legislature, grabbing the majority vote from the Democrats in the Assembly and tightening its grip on the already-Republican Senate!

That is not, may we add, just political palaver. It is a carefully-considered forecast on which the writer is willing to be a fow simoleons.

The effect of the swing-back to the Republican fold in the legislative districts (and in some of the congressional districts, as well) will also leave its impact on the presidential race.

Whether the shift will be enough to tip the scales in favor of Wendell Willkie, and against President Roosevelt in his bid for a third term, is debatable. But the newly-revitalized G. O. P. State Central Committee, with young Senator Tom Kuchel of Anaheim as its head man, is practical evidence that the elephant is champing at the bit, or whatever it is that an elephant does when it wants to go places.

Another interesting aspect of the Republican trend is that most of the ball-carriers, in the new setup, are legislators—veteran troops from the wars at Sacramento, who took Governor Olson's measure and are now looking for new fields to conquer. The man behind the drive that made 30 year old Tom Kuchel Republican State Chairman, for example, was Jerrold L. Seawell of Roseville, president pro tem of the Senate. The second vice chairman of the state central committee is Assemblyman Hubert B. Scudder of Sebastopol. And the men who put over the new G. O. P. slate were, for the most part legislators.

Under the circumstances, you can expect to find the Republican legislators out running-up yardage for Mr. Willkie from now until election day. And the boys do know their way around!

FUNERAL HELD SATURDAY FOR MARY DAVIES

Final rites were held here Saturday afternoon at the Holmes Funeral Home for Miss Mary Ann Davies, resident of the Wet Hill district more than 50 years, who died at her home last Thursday night.

A native of Douglas Flat, Calaveras County, Miss Davies came to Nevada City with her family in 1886. She became widely acquainted during her residence in the Wet Hill area and was well known for her ability as a seamstress.

Rev. David Ralston officiated at the funeral services. Interment was in the Pine Grove Cemetery.

The deceased leaves a sister, Caroline Davies and a brother, David Davies, both of Nevada City. Mrs. Louise Jewel of Kansas City, a niece was at the bedside of Miss Davies when she died.

THE LIFE OF WENDELL WILLKIE - - - - - - - - From the Willkie Volunteers in Northern California

The panic of 1893 came the year after Wendell was born. Then the natural gas, one of the main supports of Elwood's prosperity, gave out and the Willkie fortunes sank to low ebb. At 11 Wendell and a brother sold chicken coops.

There was no chore which the Willkie children would turn down, if it meant making an honest dollar, in an effort to help their father and mother, struggling valiantly as country lawyers. During his grade school years Wendell, among other things, peddled papers.

When Wendell got into the Elwood High School he graduated from the paper route to the job of driving a delivery wagon for the Elwood Bakery and, although the temptation to be one of the bakery's best customers was great, Wendell saved for college.

Wendell's boyhood mind seized on information with avidity and although he was no model pupil from a disciplinary standpoint, he learned easily and entered the University of Indiana at Bloomington when he was only 15 years of age.

GRIDLEY DOWNS YELLOWJACKETS BY THREE TOUCHDOWN MARGIN

Nevada City Battled Desperately to Score in Contest Played Friday Afternoon On Local Football Field

Scoring two touchdowns in the first half and another in the second, the Gridley High School football squad administered a sound 20 to 0 beating to the Nevada City Yellowjackets on the high school gridiron here Friday afternoon.

The visitors easily proved their superiority but the Yellowjackets battled bravely and their "never say die" spirit almost led them to a touchdown in the last few minutes of the game.

The Yellowjackets held the Gridleyans scoreless during the first period. Three successive first downs and a long end run produced the first touchdown shortly after the second period opened. An intercepted pass led to the second touchdown of the visitors. An intercepted pass also resulted in Gridley's final score.

Floyd Ruth Stars

Floyd Ruth starred on Nevada City's offensive play. Ruth continually made long gains when Nevada City had possession of the ball and his playing was always a constant thorn in the side of the Gridley players.

Ronald Joyal made a 15 yard run and penetrated deep into Gridley territory as the game neared a close but the touchdown threat was stopped.

Coach Ed Frantz' boys are showing constant improvement and it is expected when the locals tangle with Grass Valley High School on Armistice Day in the Big Game of the year they will be a smooth running gridiron machine.

Joe Widauf played left end in the Gridley battle and showed promise of developing into an able successor to Kirk Martin, who was seriously injured in the San Juan High School game and will not be able to play again this season.

STUDENTS BUY RADIO FOR INJURED YOUTH

The Nevada City High School students raised sufficient money for the purchase of a radio for Kirk Martin, the school's student body president, who is confined to the Jones Memorial Hospital in Grass Valley with injuries suffered in the football game with San Juan High School.

Martin is rapidly improving in health. Dr. B. W. Hummelt of this city is attending the injured youth.

DAHLIAS INTEREST MANY

A beautiful dahlia display in the National Hotel Building Saturday attracted widespread attention. The dahlias were grown by Mr. and Mrs. U. S. N. Johnson. On display were many varieties of all colors.

On Two Weeks Vacation—

Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Skeahan are enjoying a two weeks' vacation, which will be spent in traveling to various scenic spots of the state.

It now costs $1,004 per year to support a person on WPA but the worker receives only $650, the balance going to overhead and material costs.

ASSESSED VALUATION OF COUNTY INCREASES, RILEY REPORT SHOWS

Assessed valuation of Nevada County totalled $17,683,425 on September 2 of this year, it was revealed in a statement in Sacramento by State Controller Harry B. Riley today.

The report also showed this county was one of the 17 in the state without indebtedness.

Controller Riley reported that the assessed valuation of California's fifty eight counties increased $45,187,655. in the past year while the total indebtedness of the counties decreased $7,294,991.

The total valuation of California property subject to taxation on September 2 of this year was $7,138,621,257 compared with a total valuation of $7,093,433,602 in 1939.

Combined indebtedness of California's fifty eight counties total $176,804,401 this year compared $184,099,392 a year ago.

Valuations Increase

Assessed valuations have risen steadily in the last six years, Controller Riley pointed out, while the county indebtedness has been reduced each year since 1930.

Of the total property assessed for taxation, the State Board of Equalization assessed public utilities' property in the amount of $962,579,800. The balance of $6,176,041,547 was assessed by the counties themselves.

The value of property exempt from taxation increased from $189,955,793 in 1939 to $208,520,614 of this year.

The value of all types of property except land was greater this year than last. Land values dropped from $3,234,139,971 in 1939 to $3,212,869 in 1940.

The total number of permanent employees of the U. S. Department of Agriculture increased from 16,544 in 1932 to 48,697 in 1939, or 195 per cent and the farmers paid the bill.

The average unemployment for the seven years of the Roosevelt administration is 9,402,000 or 18 per cent of the total labor force.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACTS OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 24, 1912, AND MARCH 3, 1933,

Of The Nevada City Nugget published Twice Weekly at Nevada City, California for October, 1940.

State of California, County of Nevada, ss.

Before me, a Notary in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Harley M. Leete, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the owner of the Nevada City Nugget and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1933, embodied in section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business manager are: Publisher Harley M. Leete. Post office address—Nevada City, California. Editor Harley M. Leete, Nevada City, California. Business Manager Harley M. Leete. Nevada City, California.

2. That the owner is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member, must be given.)

Harley M. Leete, 215 Prospect Street, Nevada City, California.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.) None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockhelders, and security holders, if any contain not only the list of stockholders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockhelder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

CLYDE GWIN GETS BUCK BUT FRIENDS BELIEVE IT WAS HARE

For lo! these many months Clyde* Gwin has been boasting to his Tahoe National Forest Service associates of the huge buck he was going to bag when deer season opened.

After six days of hunting in the remote regions of Sierra County, Mr. Gwin brought down a creature with a well aimed bullet. (We say a "creature" because its species has not yet been determined.)

Supervisor Guerdon Ellis, among others, positively swears the animal, when dressed, did not weigh more than 60 pounds and their convictions even have Mr. Gwin believing he may have killed a snowshoe rabbit out of season.

The forest service official's arduous six day hunting trip worked a severe strain on Mr. Gwin's physical condition and Saturday, when he was supposed to report back to work, found him in bed, suffering with illness.

In recognition of his successful hunting expedition, forest service employees composed a poem to be presented to Gwin. So Saturday afternoon a delegation from the forest service called upon him at his home and gave him the poem, accompanied by a genuine replica of his kill—a jackrabbit.

Rainbow Girls Here Install Miss Schreiber As Worthy Advisor

Miss Elsie Schreiber was installed as worthy advisor of the Nevada City Rainbow Girls at impressive rites held Friday night in the Masonic Hall here. A large gathering witnessed the ceremonies, which also saw Mrs. Elizabeth Leiter inducted as mother advisor, succeeding Mrs. Esther Joyal, who had been mother advisor since the Rainbow Girls were organized here two years ago.

Miss Schreiber succeeds Miss Marian Gwin as worthy advisor of the local Rainbow Girls. Other officers installed include:

Madeline Bettles, associate worthy advisor; Joyce Henwood, Charity; Lucille Danos, Hope, Ruth Mitchell, Faith, and Betty Krough, drill leader.

Both Miss Gwin and Mrs. Joyal were presented with gifts. Following the installation rites refreshments were served in the banquet hall.

The Rainbow Girls here meet the second and fourth Tuesday in the month.

Harvest Festival Will Be Held

The Nevada City Elementary Parent-Teachers Association discussed plans for a harvest festiva at a meeting presided over by Mrs. Clyde Gwin.

Mrs. William Buffington and Mrs. L. G. Lageson served tea following a social hour. Mrs. Earl Jones was program chairman of the meeting.
